

Housing Energy Program

Energy and Cost Savings for Affordable Housing through Aggregation

Who We Serve

Affordable housing providers in the Southern California Edison territory. This may include public housing authorities, Section 8 property owners, nonprofit owner/builders, and property management companies.

What We Offer

A FREE and comprehensive suite of technical advisory and administrative services to help owners implement energy savings and improve their properties, including:

- Assessments and Audits
- Contract Review and Assistance
- Engineering Specification Review
- Experienced Recommendations
- Financial Advice
- Measurement and Verification Oversight
- Procurement Assistance
- Project Coordination
- Technical Assistance and Oversight

Aggregation is the Key

By working together, affordable housing providers can attract investment in energy efficiency measures by private investors called energy service companies (ESCOs). Aggregated groups of owners can also purchase and install equipment at discounted prices. HEP provides the complete technical assistance and project oversight necessary to form these “pools” and assist them with a project from start to finish.

Seven Steps to Energy Efficiency and Real Cost Savings

Contact Us

Contact our team to determine your eligibility and set up an initial consultation. We can be reached at (888) 403-2002 or aggregation@seiinc.org.

Program effective May 1, 2006 through April 30, 2008, or until funds are spent, whichever comes first. Housing Energy Program is administered by Southern California Edison under the auspices of the California Public Utilities Commission.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
EDISON

An EDISON INTERNATIONAL® Company